Naomi Weir - 2012 Is 'one man's terrorist another man's freedom fighter'? Evaluate the success of attempts to define terrorism Introduction The popular phrase 'one man's terrorist is another man's freedom fighter' reflects the many problems that the attempt to define terrorism has faced. That is why pre-emption is being considered to be so important. In some cases, terrorism has been a means to carry on a conflict without the adversary realizing the nature of the threat, mistaking terrorism for criminal activity. The United Nations produced the following definition of terrorism in 1992; "An anxiety-inspiring method of repeated violent action, employed by (semi-) clandestine individual, group or state actors, for idiosyncratic, criminal or political reasons, whereby - in contrast to assassination - the direct targets of violence are not the main targets."
